U.S. Attache Shot To Death In Congo Home

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Police spread a tight security net over Leopoldville Thursday in an investigation of the unexplained slaying of an assistant U.S. military attache.

Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Tex., was lying on his bed at home reading Wednesday night when mortally wounded by a shot in the head. The shot was fired outside his window from about 20 feet away. He died an hour later in the hospital.

Nearly 24 hours after the killing neither a likely suspect, nor a motive or weapon had been found.

Col. Stogner's work included gathering highly sensitive information on the Congo. Because of this position, speculation was widespread that a political motive might be behind the shooting.

One Congolese security officer told friends he suspected Communist agents of the killing, but U.S. Embassy officials declared firmly this was unlikely.

"I can see no possible political motive for the killing," said G. McMurtree Godley, U.S. charge d'affaires.

Godley said there was no evidence of robbery or attempted robbery, and Stogner had received no threats nor had any trouble with his personal or official staff.

Godley said an embassy secretary, Miss Elizabeth Tryng, 22, of Washington, D.C., was sitting in the room with Stogner when he was shot. She was said to have seized a gun Stogner kept in the house and rushed to the front door. She reported seeing a Congolese man from the garden, but she did not shoot.

An embassy chauffeur answering her vague description was arrested several miles away in his home about two hours later, but Congolese and U.N. investigators questioning him gained no leads. He is still being held by U.N. Nigerian police.

Wiley Would Drop TV Sets To Russians

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Dropping miniature television sets to the Russian people from wind-blown balloons has been suggested by Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis. Wiley said such TV sets could be produced for $20 to $30 each and "more Russian viewers could then pick up our broadcasts from powerful free-world antennas in Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, and Norway."

Resolution Against U.S. Loses 50-11

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly's main political committee Thursday effectively rejected Cuba's charge that the United States is planning aggression against Fidel Castro's government.

With only the 10-nation Soviet bloc supporting Cuba, the 104-nation committee rejected, 50 to 11 with 39 abstentions, a Communist resolution calling on the United States to end "interference" in Cuba.

The resolution, sponsored by Czechoslovakia and Romania, was the only measure before the committee. With no resolution offered directly supporting Cuba's charge, the rejection of the measure was tantamount to outright dismissal of the complaint.

Defeat For Soviet Bloc

The results were regarded by diplomats as a resounding defeat not only for Cuba but for the Soviet bloc. Cuba and its Communist supporters had lobbied hard among the 51-nation Afro-Asian group, seeking sponsors for even a mild resolution which would have taken cognizance of the charge of U.S. "aggression."

Not only did the largely neutralist Afro-Asian countries reject the Cuban-Communist approach, but, with few exceptions, they abstained entirely on the issue. Malaysia, Iran, Japan, Madagascar, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand voted against the measure with the Western powers and the Latin Americans. Cuba's was the only favorable vote breaking western hemispheric solidarity.

Cuban Blasts U.S., OAS

The vote came after Cuban ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchausti repeated before the 104-nation committee Castro's boast that revolution will sweep the United States "before the counter-revolution triumphs in Cuba."

Garcia closed the nine-day debate on Cuba's charges with a 90-minute denunciation of the U.S. political system, the Organization of American States, President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress and activities of the Central Intelligence Agency.

U.S. Production Off In January

WASHINGTON (AP)—A slight January drop in the output of the nation's mines, mills and utilities was announced Thursday, providing evidence that the business recovery hesitated last month.

Other key indicators dipped also—personal income, retail sales, nonfarm employment, and the working hours of factory employees.

The industrial production index, issued Thursday by the Federal Reserve Board, slipped to 114 per cent of the 1957 average, or one point below the record level of December.

Output of both final products and industrial materials fell below the December level.

Automobile assemblies dropped 10 per cent from the near-record rate of the previous month, while the output of television sets and some other consumer goods was at a slightly lower rate.

Bare-Breasted Balinese Welcome Bob Kennedys

DENPASAR, Bali (AP)—Bare-breasted, giggling girls welcomed the Robert F. Kennedys to Bali Thursday.

A hundred dancers performed and looped leis of orchids around the Kennedys in the traditional Balinese reception ceremony.

The U.S. attorney general and his wife Ethel were in for an overnight sightseeing visit to this fertile island, described in the travel folders as a land of love and laughter.

They flew in from Jogjakarta, 400 miles to the west, at the half-way mark of a six-day Indonesian tour.

The couple exchanged waves with Balinese girls, many bare-breasted in the island's tradition, as they motored from the airport to this island capital.

As in Tokyo and Jakarta, some barbed talk marked Kennedy's ap-

Glenn's Takeoff May Be Delayed Until Next Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Gloomy weather forecasts Thursday night raised the possibility that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s takeoff into orbit may suffer a 10th postponement—this time until next week.

But Project Mercury commanders still hoped against hope to send Glenn's space capsule zooming skyward Friday morning. However, the weather outlook was described as "less optimistic" than it was Thursday morning.

Glenn still was taking it all calmly. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration quoted Glenn as saying of the delay: "I can't get particularly shook up."

Col. John A. Powers, Mercury astronaut spokesman, said that if the great adventure does not get under way Friday between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time there is a possibility it might be put off four or five days.

However, a decision awaited further weather reports and checks later Thursday night.

One weather development that worried officials was a possibility of thick clouds over the launch area here. This would be bad, because it would spoil optical tracking of the great Atlas missile as it lifted Glenn's capsule toward orbit.

Weathermen reported that disturbed conditions continued in the central and western Atlantic.

The ninth scrub, ordered early Thursday, resulted from a 54-mile gale roaring across the central Atlantic. It covered 27,000 square miles and pushed 18-foot waves across an area where Glenn's capsule would land in event of an emergency shortly after blast-off.

Meteorologists forecast a 30 per cent improvement Friday in that area, centering about 950 miles east of Bermuda. But even with such an improvement, conditions still would not be good for a launch.

Weather prospects were rated as satisfactory in the primary areas staked out for recovery of the capsule after one, two or three orbits, forecasters said.

Congo Unity Step Taken By Katanga

Parliament Votes To End Secession If Conditions Met

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—The Katanga Parliament decided Thursday to end its secession from the Congo—on several conditions. Among other things, it demanded that the Congo government take a strong stand against communism and what it called the machinations of certain imperialist countries.

The assembly, which has been debating the question off and on since Jan. 4, took action at a stormy four-hour session at which President Moise Tshombe charged the U.S. State Department was "in the grip of voracious financiers."

Katanga Copper Mentioned

The financiers, he said, want to make Katanga their colony and eliminate Katanga copper from world markets.

The legislators were called into session by Tshombe to consider ratification of the Katanga agreement. That was the pact he made with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula just before Christmas to end Katanga's 18 months of secession.

Tshombe made the agreement after two weeks of fighting in Elisabethville between his gendarmerie and U.N. troops.

It appeared Katanga and the Leopoldville government are closer to getting together than at any time since Katanga seceded in July 1960 in the Congo's first month of independence.

Other Conditions

Besides a stand against communism and imperialism, the assembly demanded:

An immediate end to military operations against Katanga and a pledge by the Congo government that it will renounce the use of international forces to settle internal problems.

Portfolios for Katangans in the central government consistent with the political and economic importance of the province and at least equal in weight to those held by former followers of the late Patrice Lumumba. Tshombe specifically wants the defense ministry for Katanga.

Cessation of all hostile acts and interference in Katanga by the United Nations, and withdrawal of U.N. Ethiopian troops accused of committing atrocities in Katanga.

U.S. Bond Swap Plan Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced plans Thursday for a $18.8-billion advance re-funding on the national debt. The plan includes an offer of higher interest rates to thousands of savers who bought marketable government bonds during World War II out of patriotic motives.

The department said that holders of $18.8 billion of bonds will be given opportunity to collect higher interest by exchanging them for new bonds to mature between 1971 and 1998.

Of the old bonds eligible for the exchange, $8 billion were sold during World War II. Although the average American normally does not buy marketable Treasury bonds, about 1.5 million separate bonds—ranging down to $100 in face value—in this wartime economy were issued to thousands of small savers who made their purchases as a contribution to the war effort.

The advance refunding, pioneered under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is the third arranged by the Kennedy administration. The idea behind the technique is to encourage investors to extend their loans to the government by exchanging old bonds for new ones offering more attractive deals.

Kekkonen Reelected On Initial Ballot

HELSINKI (UPI) — President Urho Kekkonen, pledged to maintain Finland's neutrality in the East-West cold war, formally was reelected to a second six-year term Thursday by a two-thirds majority of the 300-member electoral college.

Kekkonen, who won on the first ballot, polled 199 votes to 62 for Communist candidate Paavo Aitto; 37 for Social Democrat Rafael Paasio, and 2 for leftist Social Democratic Emil Skog.

Except for special wartime elections, it was only the second time that a Finnish president had been chosen on the first ballot.

Bunche And Teacher Reunited

Ralph Bunche, United Nations undersecretary, and Miss Emma Belle Sweet, 32, the school teacher who nearly flunked him in department 47 years ago, were reunited at U. N. headquarters in New York yesterday. Miss Sweet taught Bunche and 64 other sixth grade pupils in Albuquerque, N. M. Occasion for the get-together was announcement of the Gold Key award for outstanding teaching ability which Miss Sweet will receive from Bunche Saturday at the convention of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City. Ike Believes Khrush Really Wants Peace

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Eisenhower said on Thursday night he believes Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev really wants peace.

"He would like very much to have an assurance there was going to be no war," Eisenhower said, "but this would be to his own terms so that he would not (have to) open his society."

Eisenhower made his comments on a television program.

He explained the Soviet boss "has a tremendous faith in his ability to keep controlling Russia as long as it's a closed society."

The former Chief Executive said a dictator, just as a president, was subject to pressures of public opinion. Eisenhower said Khrushchev couldn't have the Russian people, including the army, "hating him and wanting to kill him."

"There'd be no dictator," Eisenhower said. "He wouldn't be there—so he has his problems, too. And, therefore, we must, in trying to assess his personality, we must not make the mistake of saying that everything that he does that we think is evil is entirely of his own volition."

Eisenhower said Khrushchev doesn't want "any free-wheeling reporters, television or press or otherwise" reporting on the Soviet Union and telling the Soviet people what is happening in their country. Eisenhower indicated this was one way Khrushchev controlled the public opinion pressures on him.

"Now," Eisenhower added, "I don't think that Mr. Khrushchev is, himself, necessarily a cruel man, but he's raised in the doctrine of force."

One Dead, Score Hurt In Collision Of Trains

CANTON, Mass. (UPI)—A New Haven Railroad commuter train rammed into the rear of another train Thursday night, killing the engineer and injuring more than a score of passengers and crewmen.

Metropolitan District Commission police identified the engineer as John E. Heffernan of Boston. Heffernan was trapped for a time in the crumpled cab of his two-car, self-propelled diesel Budd liner.

Newspaper Sales Hit All-Time High

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — N. W. Ayer & Son's directory of newspapers and periodicals, to be published early next month, shows that newspaper circulation in the United States reached an all-time high in 1961 for the fourth year in a row.

The directory reported that the combined circulation of English-language dailies is 59,009,519, an increase of 769,094 over 1960.

13 Fined $63.28 For Driving Bed In School Parade

ALDERSHOT, England (UPI)—Twelve men and a girl were fined $63.28 Thursday for driving a bed for 52 offenses including driving an unlicensed, uninsured and unbrakeable vehicle.

Police tagged the 13 students for 52 offenses including driving an unlicensed, uninsured and unbrakeable vehicle.

Police Chief Inspector Reginald Bowles told the magistrates court the wheeled bed was definitely a vehicle. He said anyone driving a bed must make sure it has proper brakes.

Bonn, French Leaders Meet

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP) — German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle tried at a hastily arranged conference here Thursday to bring into line some divergent views on the international political situation.

How far they got in reconciling their differences was not disclosed immediately. But possible progress was indicated on the theme of European unity.

A joint communique issued shortly after they parted said they exchanged thoughts "especially on the state of East-West relations, the Berlin and German questions, and disarmament."

It said the meeting further gave them an opportunity to discuss comprehensively the problem of European political unity. The two said it is necessary to organize this unity along lines agreed upon at the meeting of common market government chiefs in Bonn, July 18, 1961.

De Gaulle returned to Paris Thursday night.

De Gaulle and Adenauer were reported agreed that work toward European unity should be carried on with accelerated speed in the face of the threats to the free world.

Bunche Recalls Tossing Spitballs As 6th Grader

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph J. Bunche disclosed spitballs, but I do know Ralph Bunche that a fondness for only got C in department and he throwing spitballs nearly got him a "B" in department when he was a sixth-grade pupil 47 years ago.

The U.N. undersecretary and Nobel Prize winner revealed this hidden talent at a reunion here with Miss Emma Belle Sweet, 32, who taught him at grade school in Albuquerque, N.M.

Bunche and Miss Sweet got together at a breakfast reception held under the auspices of the Golden Key Association which has named the American U.N. official "Citizen of the Year."

Bunche, in turn, has chosen Miss Sweet to receive the Golden Key award as the teacher "who influenced me decisively at a formative stage in my life."

Heavy Snow Closes Schools In Northeast

By The Associated Press

A fast-moving storm left the Northeast buried under up to two feet of snow Thursday and a new rainstorm hit rain-plagued Southern California.

An afternoon thaw melted some of the Northeast's snow but the Weather Bureau predicted another storm would hit the area Friday.

A complex system of storm centers over the Midwest triggered heavy snow in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota. Forty schools closed in the Fargo, N.D.-Moorhead, Minn., area and highway travel was treacherous in Minnesota and eastern and northern North Dakota.

The storm in the East struck its hardest blows in eastern New York state, western Massachusetts, northern Rhode Island and southern New Hampshire and Vermont.

At least 15 storm-attributed deaths were reported in the storm area—many of them snow shovelers.

The storm closed many schools in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, snapped power lines, disrupted plane travel and left highways slippery and dangerous.

Worcester in central Massachusetts, Tannersville, N.Y., in the Catskills and Kingston, N.Y., on the Hudson River all had 24 inches of snow.

Low-Yield A-Test Conducted By AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nuclear test of low yield was conducted underground Thursday by the Atomic Energy Commission at its Nevada test site.

This was the 14th announced underground test since the United States resumed nuclear testing.

A low yield test, as the AEC uses the term, is a detonation with an explosive power less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Allies Protest Berlin Plane Harassment

Run "Grave Risks," West Says; Alerting Steps Taken By U.S.

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet MIG jets buzzed Allied planes flying the Berlin air corridors for the second straight day Thursday, and the Western Big Three warned the Soviet Union it is "running grave risks" with such harassments.

U.S. authorities in Washington said alerting measures have been taken for the safety of Western aircraft flying the 20-mile-wide channels linking Communist-surrounded West Berlin with West Germany.

Fighter planes were reported ready to fly into the corridors at a moment's notice if an Allied plane should run into trouble.

The United States, Britain and France—in protest notes delivered in Moscow—said they hold the Soviet Union "responsible for the consequences of any incidents which might occur."

During the day Soviet jets roved for four hours in the Berlin-Frankfurt corridor, performing what Allied sources called harassing acrobatics around several Western military planes.

"Reckless Maneuvers"

"Their maneuvers could be called reckless and dangerous," an informant said in a sum-up of Allied views.

A Western spokesman in Berlin, noting Soviet pressure for exclusive use of parts of the corridors, asserted Western planes will continue using the lanes as a matter of absolute right.

Diplomatic circles in London expressed belief Soviet interference in the airlines was aimed at further unsettling West Berliners and testing Western reaction.

The reaction came swiftly in the Allied protest notes, which referred specifically to three instances Wednesday in which Soviet jets "seriously threatened by close approach" Allied transports using either the Hannover-Berlin or the Hamburg-Berlin corridor.

The Western powers declared: "An effort by one of the four powers (Russia) to allocate to itself the exclusive use of flight levels for any period of time is entirely unacceptable. Such a practice would amount to an arbitrary limitation on the free use of air corridors by the aircraft of the three Western powers as is guaranteed by quadripartite (4-power) agreements."

MIGs Dangerously Close

Informants said the latest antics of the Red planes involved several of five Allied military planes using the Berlin-Frankfurt corridor. They said the MIGs came dangerously close to the aircraft.

The air control center is the last of the Berlin four-power agencies in which the Soviet Union still participates.

Holding the right to use the corridors on equal terms with the Western powers, they opened a campaign nine days ago to seal off certain levels for certain periods for use of Soviet planes alone.

Western authorities, in rejecting their demands, have made a point of routing Western planes at altitudes the Soviets wanted to monopolize.

American-Born Cardinal Dies

ROME (AP)—Aloisius Cardinal Muench, the only American cardinal in the Vatican Curia, died Thursday night after a long struggle with Parkinson's disease. He would have been 73 on Sunday.

The Wisconsin-born prelate, former bishop of Fargo, N.D., was the third cardinal to die in 10 days.

Pope John XXIII has been reported considering calling a new consistory to name new members who will fill out the College of Cardinals.

The end came for Cardinal Muench at 10:54 p.m. at Rome's Salvatore Mundi Hospital after he had received the last sacrament of the Roman Catholic Church.

Hospital officials said the direct cause of death was a circulatory cardiac collapse. An aide said burial probably would be in Fargo or Milwaukee.

The cardinal had been under treatment since he was named to the College of Cardinals in 1959.

Cardinal Muench had been suffering from Parkinson's disease, a chronic progressive nervous disorder, for the past several years.

Top-Level Talks Begin In Steel Pact Bargaining

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Summit-preparatory work of the Human level talks began Thursday in Relations Committee as it relates steel labor contract negotiations with a review of progress already achieved by the continuing industry-union Human Relations Committee.

President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers union and R. Conrad Cooper of U.S. Steel Corp., chief industry negotiator, declined at a joint news conference after their first formal meeting to specify the areas in which the human relations group has reached agreement.

The Human Relations Committee was established in the 1959 strike settlement as a permanent joint panel to try to work out mutual problems between contracts and in advance of contract expirations.

In a joint statement after their initial meeting, Cooper and McDonald said:

"We have been reviewing the

Signs Indicate Algeria Drama Nearing Climax

PARIS (AP) — Fresh violence rocked Paris and Algeria Thursday amid indications the bloody seven-year-old Algerian drama was inching to a climax.

In Paris, 10 plastic bombs of the anti-Gaullist Secret Army Organization blew up in scattered sections of the city in a new wave of terrorism. Two persons were hurt and at least 15 narrowly escaped injury.

In Algiers, at least four persons were killed and eight wounded as Europeans and Moslems pressed bitter revenge attacks against each other.

The Paris attacks brought a warning from the Interior Ministry that new measures "which may constrict Parisian life" may be imposed in an effort to quell extremists bent on balking President Charles de Gaulle's policy of giving Algeria independence.

Public demonstrations already are banned, and the city is jammed with armed security forces. Despite this, thousands of leftists demonstrated last week against secret army bombings and eight persons died in clashes with police.

Among Algeria's nine million Moslems, many were reported increasingly hopeful that an agreement leading to independence would soon result from secret talks between Algerian rebel leaders and French officials.

Five rebel leaders confined to a chateau near Paris were said to be highly optimistic about the talks.

There was no official French word on the talks, generally assumed to be under way near the French-Swiss border.

Ethiopia Mourns Death Of Empress

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Emperor Haile Selassie, tears streaming down his face, Thursday walked alongside the chariot carrying the body of his wife, Empress Menen, from her palace to Trinity Cathedral.

The empress, Selassie's wife for 50 years, died Wednesday night at the age of 71.

Ethiopian women tore their garments in grief and shrilled the ancient song of death as the empress' coffin was taken to the cathedral.

Pressman Chides Legislators For "Free Loading"

BALTIMORE (AP) — Public watchdog Hyman A. Pressman accused members of the House of Delegates Thursday of being more interested in free food and drink than legislative matters.

Pressman, a Baltimore lawyer, made the charge in a letter to the House.

He said the letter was prompted by news reports that fewer than a dozen legislators attended a State Roads Commission briefing Wednesday night while about 110 attended dinners and an oyster roast given by lobbyists and George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Rediscovered Prof Will Keep Factory Job

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A professor who disappeared from his college almost seven years ago said Thursday he wants to keep working in a paint factory because he sees little use in uncovering a life he doesn't remember.

Dr. Carl Vernon Holmberg said at a news conference:

"For the time being, it is almost imperative that I remain what I am. There seems to be no necessity of digging back to uncover a life I know nothing about."

A routine check of fingerprints after he was arrested for a traffic violation established Wednesday that the former professor was living in Rockford under the name of Verne Hansen.

Hansen, 45, who makes $1.90 an hour as a pigment grinder in a paint plant, did not deny that he and Dr. Holmberg are the same man.

Dr. Holmberg, an associate professor in forest chemistry at Syracuse University, was married and the father of three children when he was reported missing May 11, 1955.

Mrs. Holmberg is now remarried.

Asked by newsmen whether he would communicate with the divorced wife of Dr. Holmberg, Hansen said:

"These children are the sons of a man and woman I do not know. I'm not sure whether it would be the proper thing to do."

Francis J. Baudhuin, executive vice president of the Rockford Valspar Corp., told newsmen that Hansen wants to stay with the company.

Pentagon Cancels Request To Buy F27s

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Defense has cancelled a prior request to buy F27 jet-prop airplanes from Fairchild Stratol Corp. in Hagerstown, Md., it was reported Thursday night.

The Baltimore Sun, in a dispatch from Washington, said it could not learn the official reason for the cancellation, which drew protests from Maryland Reps. Daniel Brewster and Richard Lankford, both Democrats, and Charles Mathias, Republican.

In Washington, the Pentagon said no information was available. "It's an outrage," said Mathias, in whose 6th District the plant is situated. As he left his Washington office to meet with Fairchild union employees, Mathias said he would "seek their help in righting this injustice which has been worked on the people."

Two Holdup-Killers Believed In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — The search for two men wanted in a series of New York bank holdups and the slaying of a bank guard focused on Maryland Thursday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation issued an alert for Alfred Frederick Nussbaum, 27, of Buffalo, and Robbie Randall Wilcoxson, 33, of Oklahoma.

They are believed to be traveling with Jacqueline Rose, 18, of Taoli, Ind., and her 5-month-old son. The woman also is wanted in connection with the bank holdups.

Edward J. Powers, agent in charge of the FBI office in Baltimore, said the three were armed with hand grenades, a machine gun and a shotgun and "are to be considered extremely dangerous."

House Tentatively OKs Governors Pension Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Pensions for Maryland governors and their widows were accorded tentative approval Thursday by the House of Delegates.

A past governor would receive a pension of $1,200 for each year in office up to a maximum of $9,600—the equivalent of two terms—upon reaching the age of 60.

A widow would receive half of her husband's allotment providing she did not remarry.

If a retired governor obtained another state or federal office for which the salary was equal to or greater than his pension, he would forfeit the pension.

Besides the incumbent, Gov. Tawes, two other past Maryland governors, W. Preston Lane Jr. of Hagerstown and Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, would be eligible for the pension. So would the widow of former governor Herbert R. O'Connor of Baltimore.

McKeldin would be eligible for the full pension of $9,600 annually. He is reported to be considering becoming a candidate again this year. If he does and is elected, he would not receive the pension while in office.

At the same time the House was adopting a favorable report on the governor's pension bill, the delegates were presented a resolution urging establishment of a longevity pay plan for all state employees.

Four delegates proposed that employees who have been at the top pay scale for three years receive an increase of 5 per cent of their salary.

Maryland Briefs

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Funeral services are scheduled Friday for William N. Fleckenstein, Talbot County cannery operator who died Wednesday after a long illness. He was 90 on Feb. 9.

BALTIMORE (AP) — E. Dale Adkins Jr. has been quoted as saying he will seek the Republican nomination for U. S. senator if he can get strong backing.

Adkins, 46, Salisbury, is a former Wicomico County state senator and Circuit Court judge. He reportedly will make his decision about running within the week.

Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., the incumbent, has announced he will not run for reelection. Republicans who have said they will seek the seat include James P. Gleason of Silver Spring, Barry Simms of Montgomery County and Wallace Williams of Cecil County.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's traffic death toll for the year has climbed to 40—six higher than for the corresponding date of last year—upon the death of W. C. McComas, a 20-year-old sailor.

State Police said McComas, from the U. S. S. Randolph based at Norfolk, Va., died Wednesday night of injuries received in a collision on State 3 in Anne Arundel County last Friday.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Geraud V. Foster, 34-year-old member of the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine staff, has been named personal physician to King Imam Ahmed, ruler of Yemen.

The State Department said Foster would fly to Yemen, in southeastern Arabia, on Monday to treat the aging ruler. Foster's wife and two sons will join him in Yemen in May.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Del. Lansdale G. Sasser Jr., D - Prince Georges, has announced he will seek his party's nomination for the State Senate.

Sasser's candidacy for the nomination assures a primary battle with the incumbent, H. Winship Wheatley.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A member of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, Harold Lee Frankel, was recovering Thursday from injuries received in a high-way accident near Hagerstown.

Frankel, in Hagerstown for compensation hearings, was driving a car which collided with an Army truck at the intersections of Highways 66 and 40. The accident happened Wednesday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore official says he may take the Civil Aeronautics Board to court in a dispute involving Friendship International Airport and Dulles Field at Chantilly, Va.

Charles P. Crane, chairman of Baltimore's Airport Board, said federal aviation authorities were trying to steer traffic to Dulles—scheduled to open this fall—because it is government-owned.

State and local officials met with federal authorities about the dispute Wednesday. Crane said after the meeting "The CAB's actions should be devoted to air service for people, not rivalry between airports."

BALTIMORE (AP)—Backers of Gov. Tawes' campaign for reelection say they will distribute 100,000 brochures defending his role in the savings and loan controversy. The three-color, four-page brochures will be mailed or handed out between now and the primary election May 15.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Parking meters became a million dollar business in Baltimore during 1961—almost.

The city treasurer, C. Meredith Boyce, said collections totaled $911,557, or 42 per cent more than the 1960 collections of $638,041.

The Standard Salary Board has recommended the rate of increase by 4 per cent.

Four other improvements in state employee benefits also were introduced in the legislature.

They were to set a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, to double to 10 days the vacation for employees with less than one year of service, to increase the amount of severance pay, and to study state payment of hospitalization insurance.

Maryland's first regulations of the home improvement industry were outlined in a bill by Del. Kemp McDaniel, who headed a study commission named by Gov. Tawes.

State Senators Praise Mental Health Program

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Officials of the Department of Mental Health had little trouble explaining their budget request Thursday to sympathetic members of the Senate Finance Committee.

The senators seemed solicitous of the state's mental health program, and the explanatory testimony was interspersed with compliments from committee members.

After a two-hour hearing, the committee chairman, Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, urged others awaiting a chance to speak on behalf of the department to "quit while you're ahead." And Pine adjourned the meeting by urging officials to "keep up the good work."

The Department's proposed budget calls for $24.6 million in general fund appropriations, an increase of about $1 million over current expenditures but $1.3 million less than requested.

In addition, the department was allocated $1.6 million in the capital improvements budget of Gov. Tawes, and Pine said he has been advised the governor would ask for another $325,000 in a supplemental budget.

Kenneth Barnes, chief of administration for the department, said $170,000 of the supplemental budget would be allotted for a 30-bed unit for adolescents at Spring Grove State Hospital.

Other projects include $120,000 to renovate Clifton T. Perkins Hospital to help prevent escapes by the maximum security patients, $90,000 for renovations at Springfield Hospital, $120,000 for central kitchen at Rosewood and $25,000 for an elevator at Spring Grove.

Compensation Commissioners Pay Hike Asked

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A $2,500 per year pay raise was requested Thursday for the seven members of Maryland's highest paid commission, the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Identical bills were introduced in the House and Senate to pay commissioners $16,500 annually, instead of $14,000, and to raise the pay of their chairman from $14,500 to $17,000.

Sen. Raymond Buffington, D-Balto 3rd, sponsored the Senate version and Dels. Thomas H. Hedrich, D-Balto 2nd, and Sol. J. Friedman, D-Balto 4th, introduced the House bill.

Buffington said the increase was recommended by a governor's committee to study the workmen's compensation laws. He is a member of the committee.

The commission, which hears industrial accident claims, was placed on an expanded fulltime basis in 1957 at the request of Gov. Theodore McKeldin, who said it was necessary to handle a backlog of work.

Del. Jerome Robinson, a Baltimore Democrat who is now a municipal court judge, denounced the measure then as "the sweetest grabbag that's been around here for years."

The Legislature passed the bill anyway. Members of the three-man Industrial Accident Board, the commission's predecessor, received $6,000 annually.

In 1961 the Legislature added two more members to the commission. Only attorneys can serve on the commission and they are required to devote full time to the commission.

The present members are Daniel T. Doherty, chairman, Harold Lee Frankel, Joseph I. Paper, Les H. Crowther, Helen Elizabeth Brown, Paul T. Pitcher and Paul M. Fletcher.

Bullet Fired 17 Years Ago Found In Man's Body

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seventeen years ago when Jack Teal was shot accidentally in the abdomen by the maximum security patients, $90,000 for renovations at Springfield Hospital, $120,000 for central kitchen at Rosewood and $25,000 for an elevator at Spring Grove.

No decision was made immediately to remove the bullet from Teal, married and the father of six children.

His mother, Mrs. Elsie Teal, was surprised at the discovery. "When they told me they had found the bullet, I liked to have dropped over in the middle of the floor," she exclaimed.

Rees' April 6 Death Date Stayed By Virginia Judge

SPOTSVYLVANIA, Va. (AP) — Mildred, 27, and older daughter, Susan, 5. He also faces charges for the slaying of another daughter, Janet, 1½.

The Jacksons were kidnapped while returning to their Louisa County home on Jan. 11, 1959.

His April 6 death date was stayed by Circuit Judge John D. Butzner Jr.

Rees' court-appointed attorneys have until May 4 to file the appeal, which they said is now in preparation.

The 33-year-old dance band musician, from Hyattsville, Md., was sentenced to die for the 1959 slaying of Carroll V. Jackson Jr.

Rees was sentenced to two life prison terms by a federal court in Baltimore last year for the kidnap-murders of Jackson's wife.

WM Key In C&O Merger

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway purchases of Western Maryland Railway stock in 1961 were made with an eye to the future in view of C&O's proposed affiliation with the Baltimore and Ohio.

This statement concerning the $6,300,000 investment of C&O working capital in Western Maryland stock is contained in the annual report to stockholders yesterday.

The report noted that the C&O's working capital was $50,000,000 at the end of 1961, only $4,000,000 less than the all-time record of 1960.

"This reduction is more than compensated for by the railroad's investment in Western Maryland stock, the report added.

The C&O said, however, that it has no "immediate plans regarding this excellent property."

But very substantial opportunities for coordination exist between Western Maryland and B&O possibilities which could lead to ultimate cost reductions running into eight figures.

"B&O-C&O affiliation progress was the highlight of the year. We continue to be enthusiastic about the benefits which this partnership would bring to Chesapeake and Ohio shareholders, through opportunity for growth in their investment.

"At the same time, this joining of C&O strength and B&O potential would advance the interests of B&O shareholders and the employees of both companies, and bring needed strength to an important segment of the railroad industry in the East. It is our hope that Interstate commissioners approval of B&O-C&O affiliation will be given in the first half of this year, according to Cyrus S. Eaton, chairman of the Board, and Walter J. Tuohy, president.

"No dilution of Chesapeake and Ohio strength is involved in the B&O affiliation, since C&O's application is not for immediate merger, but for control of B&O as a step to merger. B&O losses in 1961 were foreseen; its earnings picture is expected to improve in the years immediately ahead," Eaton and Tuohy said.

Additional studies made since C&O filed its application of B&O convince us that the B&O's earnings potential is, if anything, greater than originally anticipated, John E. Kusik, senior vice president, finance, observed.

Judgeship Race Assured In Garrett County

A race for the judgeship of Garrett County Circuit became a certainty Wednesday when an opponent to Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill Jr. filed his papers of candidacy with the Secretary of State.

He is Republican States' Attorney W. Dwight Stover. Judge Hamill, a Democrat, filed last week.

Both men have entered each primary. The winners of the two primaries on May 15 will run against each other in the fall general election. If one captures both primaries, he automatically becomes elected.

Stover and Hamill were both recommended by the Garrett, Maryland and Fourth District bar committees for the appointment to judgeship after the death of the late Judge Neil C. Fraley in September. Democratic Governor J. Millard Tawes appointed Hamill, the Democrat, in October.

Stover was admitted to the practice of law in Garrett County in 1942 but shortly afterward left for four years of Army duty during World War II.

He returned to Oakland and resumed the practice of law in 1946. He was appointed Garrett County state's attorney in 1947 upon the resignation of Walter W. Dawson.

He was elected to the position in 1950 and served until 1954 when he did not run. After the term of Richard S. Pagenhardt in 1958, he was elected for the second term. Stover has served 11 years in the position.

Hamill is the third generation of his family to be an attorney in Garrett County. He was associated with his father, Stuart F. Hamill Sr., until the latter's death in June.

Judge Hamill also had war service, leaving for Army duty one day after being sworn into the Garrett County Bar in 1941. He had two tours of duty in the European Theatre during four and a half years of service.

Since returning to Oakland in 1946, he was attorney to the Garrett County Board of Education and is serving as vice president of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Company.

Hamill and Stover, both about 45 years of age, are both married, with Hamill having three children and Stover, two. Both are residents of the Oakland area.

Miss Julia Rowan, clerk to the Board of Garrett County Election Supervisors, reported that other candidates filing on the Republican ticket were James Edward Frantz, the incumbent, for sheriff; Richard A. Davis, the incumbent, for clerk of Circuit Court; Allan Stanley Paul, Deer Park and Dr. A. Page Stone, Grantsville, for county commissioner; Ellsworth Moon and Mark Hayes Moon, both of Mt. Lake; Truman C. Bittinger, Oakland, and Roy C. Turney, all for judges of the Orphans Court.

Democrats filing this week were John Montgomery Wilson, Mt. Lake, and Herbert Watson "Burke" Browning, Oakland, for county commissioner.

Girl Scouts Plan Projects

All members of South Cumberland Neighborhood, Girl Scouts of America, are urged to have donations to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund at the Girl Scout House no later than March 1.

The regular meeting of the Neighborhood was held recently with Mrs. C. Eugene Howell, chairman, presiding.

Plans were discussed for each troop participation in the "Scoutarama" to be held March 17. Each leader was asked to have two uniformed Scouts with troop and international flags present at noon to take part in the opening ceremony.

Mrs. Arthur Hannas will be neighborhood chairman for the sale of Girl Scout cookies. Troops were urged to have names of chairmen selected when contacted.

Mrs. Guy Smith, leader of Senior Troop 8, announced that her members are available to assist leaders with program and troop projects.

The fifth project to be carried out in the year beginning March 12, will be in the form of services to children. This will climax the three-year celebration of the birthday of Girl Scouting. Each troop has been asked to choose a month in which they will send gifts to children at Memorial Hospital. These include puppets and play kits or other toys made by Girl Scouts as troop projects. Mrs. Paul Crites is chairman of this activity.

UAR Gets U.S. Loans

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The United States has agreed to provide the United Arab Republic with about $40 million in loans and grants to build grain storage facilities. The American Embassy and the Egyptian government made the announcement.

Nothing keeps a woman looking younger than keeping up her muscle tone. Follow the Powers Girl formula!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Muscle Tone Important For That Youthful Look

If you allow your muscles to grow weak and slack, your figure will sag. But why allow these sure signs of age to be posted on you, when they can be prevented so readily?

Here are some muscle toners: uppers that won't develop the biceps of a weight-lifter but will keep you in a state of fine feminine trim, and I think you'll enjoy doing them.

Try this one for firming your face first: Press your lips together and blow out your cheeks with your breath. Hold for a count of ten. Now let your breath out very slowly and evenly between pursed lips. If you do it before an open window so much the better! Repeat ten times daily.

Second, and also best in front of the open window, bring your arms up to touch at shoulder level in front of you, palms down. Now fling them back as far as you can and slowly turn the palms upward as far as possible. Hold for count of five. Turn your palms down and return your arms to their starting position. Do this twenty times daily and your back, arms and chest will all benefit!

Stand with your feet and knees together, your weight on the balls of your feet and your knees relaxed. Make the muscles in your knees pull your kneecaps upward. You may not be able to do this at first, but with practice your kneecaps should move up.

Presbyterians Oppose Change In W. Va. Liquor Law

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — A leading proponent of liquor-by-the-drink in West Virginia said Wednesday he hopes to convince Presbyterian churches in this area that they should not oppose the plan to be voted on in November.

Chester R. Hubbard, a member of the House of Delegates and co-sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment, said a group of 22 Presbyterian churches in the Northern Panhandle went on record last week opposing "any change in state laws that would mean an increase in consumption of liquor."

Hubbard said he plans to provide statistics to each of the churches showing that legalizing liquor-by-the-drink will not result in increased consumption, and on that basis the churches will take a neutral stand.

Fire Destroys Dwelling Near Mt. Savage

Parked Autos Keep Firemen From Scene

Cars of spectators blocked a rural road one mile outside of Mt. SAVAGE—Cars of spectators blocked a rural road one mile outside of Mt. Savage yesterday and as a result fire consumed a $20,000 ranch-style home when two other fire companies could not get to the scene to aid Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company.

Joseph E. Durst Jr., fire chief of the Frostburg department, charged that the blockade of autos held his unit back from getting to the aid of Mt. Savage unit.

Mt. Savage firemen were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis at 2:30 a. m. just after the couple barely escaped with their lives from their burning home.

Two Companies Called

When the Mt. Savage company saw the extent of the fire, Frostburg and Corriganville were called by radio for help.

But four cars were in the Frostburg company's way when the firemen arrived with their truck. Mt. Savage, Durst said, had the fire under control and with the aid of Frostburg's pumper could have extinguished it.

By the time State Police had the cars moved, the flames had gone out of control and Frostburg and Corriganville's aid was to no avail.

Volunteer firemen have recognized a real problem at fires due to sightseers hampering their activities.

One Man Arrested

Trooper George Wachter arrested one owner of a car and charged him with violation of Section 250 of the State Motor Vehicle Code. That prohibits a motorist from following an emergency fire vehicle within 300 feet when responding to a fire or parking within a 300-foot radius of a fire.

Trial for the defendant is scheduled at a date to be set for Frostburg Trial Magistrates Court.

Mrs. Davis stated today at the home of her mother, Mrs. Barbara Hergett, Mt. Savage, where she is staying temporarily, that she was awakened by dense smoke and flames about 2:30 a. m.

Little Saved

She went to the other bedroom where her husband, a construction worker, was sleeping and the two fled from the house by way of a window.

All that they retrieved from the practically new home was some clothing and Mrs. Davis' portable sewing machine.

Davis, an operating engineer, who is not employed at this time, said he had just finished the installation of a new kitchen in his five-room home, located on the old Thomas Arnold property. Arnold was one of the pioneer settlers of the Mt. Savage area.

All that remained today were charred ruins and the foundation.

RAD Endorsed By Community Council Group

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Community Council, in its meeting at the Hardy County Public Library, gave its endorsement to the Rural Areas Development committee and offered its support to the work of that committee.

It was announced that the members of the TV cooperative had been successful in signing up about half of the new donors needed to enable Moorefield to retain its UHF signal. Last week at a public meeting, it was announced if $3,450 could not be raised to meet the indebtedness of the Valley Co-Op, Inc., the signal would have to be cut off. Approximately $1,500 has been donated since and it is hoped that the total amount will be raised before the end of the month, which was given by the directors as a cut-off date.

The Council members are still trying to secure 30 gallon fuel oil drums to paint blue and gold and place in strategic places to collect litter and help keep Moorefield cleaner.

Thanks were voted to the Mercantile Association, the Firemen and the CAP for their help in Christmas decorations.

All Civil War markers are in place and paid for and it was suggested that others might be secured. Anyone knowing of a place worthy of marking should contact the Community Council.

W. Va. Liquor-By-Drink Association Is Formed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Clem Jones of Huntington, president of the West Virginia Restaurant Association, will head an organization being formed to work for approval of liquor-by-the-drink in West Virginia, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The announcement was made here by Paul Skeeter, executive director of the West Virginia Visitors Bureau, after the Wheeling News-Register reported that Michael Rush of Charleston would head the organization. The Visitors Bureau is taking a leading part in forming the organization — still in its preliminary stages.

Skeeter said that Leo McShane, also of Huntington and president of the West Virginia Hotel Association, also will serve as an officer of the organization. It will be officially set up at a meeting to be held here late this month.

Rush has been working on arrangements for the meeting, contacting individuals and groups around the state that might be interested in joining or supporting it, Skeeter said.

Anti-liquor forces organized at two statewide meetings here earlier this year and chose the Rev. L. E. Crowson of Logan as chairman.

West Virginia voters will decide in a referendum to be held in conjunction with the November general election whether to amend the state Constitution so as to legalize sale of liquor-by-the-drink on a county option basis. Liquor may now be sold only in state stores and may not be consumed in "a public place."

FSTC Art Department Plans Public Exhibition

FROSTBURG—An art exhibit will be sponsored by the Art Department of Frostburg State Teachers College in Gunter Hall Foyer, February 21, according to Dr. James W. Crawford, head of the department.

The exhibit will include oils and prints by several eastern artists. Representatives in this group will be practicing artists from Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and several other Eastern States. The exhibit will last two weeks and will be open to the public each day from 2 to 5 p. m.

In April, an exhibit of serigraphs from the Western Serigraph Institute will be held. The serigraph is a form of printmaking and is in the same classification as etchings, lithographs, and woodcuts. A silk-screen process is utilized.

A student and Faculty art show will also be held in May.

Several other exhibits are being planned, including a one-man show by a New York painter and a showing of ceramics and oil paintings by a Pennsylvania artist.

The bidding:
East South West North
1 A 1 NT Pass 3 NT
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of A.
Defending against a no trump contract when declarer has a long suit to run is a severe mental obstacle to many players. The pressure caused by the necessity to make several discards frequently induces a state of panic that results in a collapse of the defense.

Sometimes successful defense against a long suit is impossible because one of the players finds himself burdened with the protection of too many assets. South's failure to visualize his opponent's holding resulted in the loss of a vulnerable game today.

East opened the bidding with one spade and South, having 17 well distributed points, properly overcalled with one no trump. North also had a balanced hand containing 10 high card points, so he proceeded directly to game.

West opened the jack of spades. East overtook with the queen, and declarer permitted him to hold the trick. The ace and another spade now cleared the suit.

South could see eight top tricks with the prospect of developing a ninth trick in clubs if the suit was divided 3-2 and West held the long card. It would then be possible to keep East from obtaining the lead in time to run his established spades. So a club was led over to the king and a small one back to the ace on which East followed with first the jack and then the queen. On a third round of clubs however, East produced the ten, and two more spade tricks set the contract.

Had declarer run off four heart tricks early in the play he would have placed East in a vise from which there was no extrication. After winning the third round of spades, the ace and king of hearts are cashed. A club is led over to the king and the remaining hearts are played. On the fourth heart, East has the choice of unguarding his stopper in either diamonds or clubs, or else giving up a spade. If he throws a spade, South can afford to establish his ninth trick in clubs.

Rowan Calls Plan 'Political'

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said yesterday he has requested county officials in several departments to gather data in connection with the proposed reduction of property taxes within the various municipalities.

Rowan said he will present the information to Mayor J. Edwin Keech of Cumberland, who is spearheading the municipalities in a move to obtain a cut in county taxes on property in communities.

The county commissioner said that the items cited at Wednesday night's meeting at City Hall did not include the payment of interest and principal by the county on the $1,000,000 Savage River Dam bonds nor the several hundred thousand dollars in bond issues for Memorial Hospital.

Rowan indicated that there are other items which he will present at any meeting which is held with the municipal officials.

The county board president also said he felt the move was "political" but did not elaborate.

Planning Group Airs Budget

Allegany County's Planning and Zoning Commission last night devoted most of its meeting time to approval of a budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year starting July 1 to be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners.

Details of the proposed budget will not be divulged until they are presented first to the county commissioners.

During its first two years of operation, the commission has been budgeted for $25,000 a year in county funds. Not all of the first $25,000 was spent in the first year and some of it was carried over to the current fiscal year as a contingent fund.

C. Lee Renaud, county planning director, discussed the proposed budget in considerable detail. Four of the five commission members attended. They included Richard Winer, chairman; James A. Perrin, County Commissioner John T. Mason and Carl O. Belt.

Mr. Renaud also distributed to the members copies of a 15-page report on population and other characteristics of Allegany County. This report was prepared by Julian Tarrant, senior associate of Ladislav Segoe and Associates, consulting engineering firm, for the commission.

WM Freight Train Derails In Pa.

HANOVER, Pa. (AP)—Six cars of a 125-car Western Maryland Railroad freight train derailed Thursday near this York County town. No one was hurt.

Railroad officials estimated the damage at $10,000 and said the derailment was caused by a defective coupler on the 17th car. Crews cleared the wreckage in about 12 hours. The train was en route from Baltimore to Hagerstown, Md.

Seamen on British war vessels at one time were allowed to own pets.

Vermont comes from French words "Vert," meaning green, and "Mont," meaning a mountain.

Economic Effects Of Disarmament

One of the great hopes of the world is a workable disarmament agreement. The alternative is the endless threat of atomic war.

But disarmament would not be easy, even if the Soviets were willing and could be trusted. A recent study released by William C. Foster, U.S. disarmament director, points to a major problem involved — the economic slack which would be created by a $30 billion drop in government spending.

Even a gradual cutback in the mammoth arms budget "may prove a significant drag on the economy and pose serious problems for the policymakers," the study said.

The report contends that only detailed advance planning by government, business and labor could produce a smooth adjustment to the change. But the nature of the planning is left vague.

Reduction of the national debt, tax cuts or shorter working hours would not provide a simple answer, according to the study. They would not go to the heart of the problem, the horde of unemployed cut loose by retrenching arms plants. They would do nothing for the city heavily dependent on a defense plant.

The American economy can function without the artificial stimulus of arms spending, if permitted to do so. The difficulty is that in the last two decades many areas of the country have become dependent on apparently permanent military spending. In time, the slack could be taken up by production of consumer goods and by still more public works—roads, conservation, etc. The problem would be in making the adjustment from an arms economy without destroying whole cities and sections of the country.

All this must be highly disturbing to those who think disarmament would bring the millennium. Disarmament would be a big step forward if surrounded by effective safeguards. But it would also bring major problems of its own.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The President's Brother

The President's brother is making a hit on his trip in Asia. Many regard Bobby Kennedy as a tough guy but if being direct and straight-forward and saying what one believes to be true is to be tough, then Robert F. Kennedy presents to the American public and to the world the kind of American that we used to know before we began to polish up. The Japanese Communists got a touch of Bobby's way when they were scared away from debating him.

The simplicity of the man and his wife is beyond doubt new to Asians and some may think that Bobby is putting on. But they will soon know that this is a well-organized mind, capable of dealing with facts as they develop and that there is no use in attempting to put anything over on him.

Americans generally stand in awe of Europeans and Asians and tend to bow before the great, regarding the traditional pomp and ceremony of their surroundings as important. They will find that while Bobby Kennedy has all the finesse of his brother, he can, with ease, push it all aside and not only skip rope but make ideas move fast because he does not permit position to interfere with conduct.

He walks about his office in his shirt sleeves not as a demonstration of Jeffersonian democracy but as a matter of choice. He decorates his office with his children's drawings which he regards as good art and if anyone prefers Picasso, they are free to pursue their taste.

President Kennedy made no mistake in appointing his brother Attorney General. He has turned that into a hard, functioning office based upon a program that does not seek sensationalism but produces results.

Undoubtedly the weakest link in the administrative chain of any Administration is the State Department. This is no criticism of Dean Rusk. It is a product of accumulation of errors beginning in the Roosevelt Administration when President Roosevelt ignored Secretary of State Cordell Hull and operated through a series of under secretaries, thus creating an administrative confusion. As a consequence the chain of command became dislodged and gave the irremovable lower echelon an authority in the formation of policy to which it was not entitled.

Robert Kennedy will see the maneuverings of small minds to keep themselves in jobs while great events are permitted to pass them by. He will catch the frauds as they are practiced and he will observe the fraudulent personalities who will substitute theatrical accents and mannerisms for propriety of conduct. We have a way of thinking of many of these personalities as subversive when actually they are only incompetent. They are not subversive; they are often stupid.

The stupid had better not play their fo-tol-er on Bobby Kennedy. He will see through them as swiftly as his brother but his response is likely to be rougher. He has less time to be merciful. His interest in foreign policy is acute but that does not mean that there is to be a conflict between Bobby Kennedy and Dean Rusk. It simply means that the President's brother is going to have a look around at what is going on.

The first job of diplomacy, whether conducted by the State Department or indirectly by the CIA, is to keep the President informed as to the details of situations. The evidence is likely to show that the President is informed neither swiftly nor accurately enough.

For some incalculable reason the hearings of the Eastland Committee have thus far been suppressed but there can be no doubt that their publication would establish that as regards Cuba, the President was improperly informed and probably is that this has happened throughout the world. The techniques of information therefore need to be reorganized and speeded up. A slow-minded, self-serving, opinionated second secretary of an embassy can do infinite damage without being a subversive. He need only be a jackass.

No one has taken that kind of a look-see at the Foreign Service in a long time. The tendency is to be wine and dined, to be shown the sights and introduced to the celebrities and to come home describing how wonderful everything is.

On the other hand, a man like Bobby Kennedy will see through all the nonsense and will wonder who really works in the shop.

Pennsylvania Politics A Dandy Basket Of Eels

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

All the happy, zany symptoms of an election year are appearing in our midst. After a 24-hour fast to ponder a decision he had clearly made months earlier, George Romney of American Motors made the announcement of his candidacy for the Governorship of Michigan which everyone had known he was going to make before his self-imposed famine. That was odd enough.

Yet what has been happening in Pennsylvania is still more odd. Compared to the present state of Pennsylvania politics, a basket of eels would look simple and tranquil.

On the Democratic side of the fence, the energetic Mayor of Philadelphia, Richardson Dilworth, has just announced that he will seek the Governorship. By so doing, he has flatly defied the redoubtable Philadelphia boss, Bill Green, who wants no part of Dilworth in Harrisburg or anywhere else, and says he cannot win anyway.

The question for the Democrats is whether Gov. David Lawrence can make peace between Green and Dilworth, and thus prevent Green from running his own Governorship candidate in a primary. The question for Green is whether he wants to give Dilworth the kind of opening that Carmine DeSapio gave Mayor Wagner of New York — a chance, in other words, to run as an anti-bossism candidate. Both questions, at this writing, are unanswered and all but unanswerable.

As for the Pennsylvania Republicans, their affairs are even more involved, mainly by the complex maneuverings of the adroit Sen. Hugh Scott. Sen. Scott's ambition is to be the grand panjandrum of Pennsylvania Republicanism. Former President Eisenhower, among others, thinks Scott is ideally equipped for the task; but this view is far from being shared by the Republicans of the Old Guard, with their strongholds in the State Committee and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

The Old Guard recently mouse-trapped Sen. Scott, by putting forward a "harmony" ticket composed of Rep. James Van Zandt for Senator and the impeccably conservative Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside for Governor. Never one to take a mouse-trapping lying down, Sen. Scott thereupon counter-mouse-trapped his enemies by getting on the telephone to President Eisenhower in Palm Springs.

In the manner of Moses bringing down the word from the mountaintop, Sen. Scott then reported that the former President "would prefer a primary fight to being forced to take a miserable ticket" — a hardly veiled reference to the Woodside-Van Zandt combination. Scott added nobly that he would even be prepared to sacrifice his Senate seat, if he were "drafted" for the Governorship — an unlikely event, in view of the Woodside-Van Zandt ticket already in the field.

Amid howls of indignation from the Old Guard and their nominees, President Eisenhower then fired off telegrams to Rep. Van Zandt, saying he had not meant to be unkind, and to Sen. Scott, saying he would actively support any Pennsylvania Republican ticket including Sen. Scott or approved by Sen. Scott. This appeared—and still appears—to give the Senator the power to deliver or withhold the ex-President.

Thus reinforced, the Senator forgot about his preference for a draft, and announced that he would confer with Mrs. Scott over the weekend about running for the Governorship in deadly earnest. Perhaps he had not heard of the novel good example set by George Romney, or perhaps he just thought that Mrs. Scott would give better counsel than an empty stomach.

In any case, the sequel to this cannibal discussion was a Monday announcement by the Senator, saying that the result of his talks with Mrs. Scott had been "affirmative," but neglecting to explain what had been affirmed. This part of the mystery, it seems, was to be unveiled yesterday, in a further statement by the Senator.

It is a fair guess that Scott will either run for Governor himself, or will put up a man of his choice with President Eisenhower's backing, or will use the ex-President as a lever to jimmy the Old Guard into picking someone more amenable to Scott influence than Judge Woodside.

Among other things, the Senator has also admitted to the other Pennsylvania Republican leaders that he very much wants to head and control the state delegation to the Republican National Convention in 1964. Hence this is another factor in the tangled Pennsylvania equation.

What lesson is to be drawn from all this, it is rather hard to say, except perhaps the lesson that politicians tend to behave in a most singular manner in election years. Maybe the great fasting innovation is a very good thing, since prolonged famine dampens the spirit and is said to drive home the value of ambition.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

'JAMMING'? — During Budget Director David E. Bell's explanation of the budget message for news correspondents, one asked: "Why are you trying to put new taxes on aviation and taking them off railroads?"

As Bell began to reply, the roar of an airplane drowned out his voice. A few minutes later, when he tried to reply to similar question, another airplane flew over and again drowned out his remarks.

Bell smiled weakly, but as the plane faded in the distance, a reporter was heard to remark: "What a lobby!"

CORRECTION, PLEASE—Rep. Horace Seely-Brown of Connecticut is a staunch Republican who has served in Congress for a number of terms, broken now and then by victorious Democrats who opposed him.

You can understand his concern, therefore, when this year's edition of the "Biographical Directory of the American Congress" listed him as a delegate to the Democratic state conventions in 1938, 1940 and 1942.

Seely-Brown lost no time in writing to the publishers requesting that the error be corrected in the next edition. However, the fact is that the publication is issued only about once each 10 years, so he'll have to suffer erroneous designations by anyone using the book as a reference work for at least the next five terms of Congress!

Intestinal Hemorrhage After Use Of Aspirin

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Salicylates such as aspirin are wonderful remedies for headache and rheumatism. Most people can take large doses without ill effects, whereas others develop nausea, vomiting, heartburn, or abdominal distress. Bleeding from the stomach also occurs, which may be so severe hospitalization is required.

Numerous reports of massive gastrointestinal hemorrhage have appeared in medical journals. Careful questioning often reveals that approximately 40 per cent took aspirin prior to bleeding from the stomach. Some of these men and women have peptic ulcer and it is reasonable to assume that the medicine activated the lesion through irritation or by increasing stomach acidity. This should be a warning to all ulcer victims not to use aspirin or other the product with an alkali.

The cause of hemorrhage after the use of a salicylate is not known. Many arthritics use large amounts to relieve pain but only a few become bleeders. Other studies have shown that some types of aspirin are soluble whereas others are quite insoluble. The latter are most likely to produce oozing of blood.

Some physicians have looked into the stomach of bleeders after they used aspirin, and in many there was no redness or other evidence of irritation of the lining membrane. These studies demonstrate that aspirin must do its dirty work after being absorbed. In all probability, the drug alters the clotting time of the blood. The salicylates also make capillaries more fragile, which could explain why bleeding from areas other than the stomach occurs also after using aspirin.

Who are the greatest aspirin users? Individuals who are emotionally and physically under stress. They have more headaches, pain, and nervousness and many have peptic ulcer. Perhaps these factors are responsible for bleeding. Who knows?

THE WINDOW ARGUMENT

Mrs. H. B. writes: My husband claims he chokes up on having the bedroom window open at night and that his attack of pneumonia last spring was from the open window. Is all this possible?

REPLY

In some people, ideas along this line are so deeply rooted that nothing you do or I can say will change their mind. Colds and pneumonia are caused by viruses and bacteria, not by fresh air. On the other hand, your husband should know whether he chokes up when the window is open.

BRONCHITIS AFTER COLD

R. P. writes: Every winter, when I catch cold, it is followed by bronchitis. Is there any way to prevent this from happening?

REPLY

Get ample rest and exercise, avoid crowds, and go to bed at the first sign of a cold. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

SUGAR AND ENERGY

T. M. writes: I'm 82 and in good health but I tire easily. An 86 year old friend advises me to do what he does to pep up. He eats four lumps of sugar a day. Do you think this advice is good?

REPLY

It will do no harm, provided you are not a diabetic or overweight. The stamina of older people varies considerably and your more energetic friend may be giving the sugar more credit than it deserves.

CHEMICAL PERITONITIS

J. O. writes: How is chemical peritonitis due to ruptured ulcer treated?

REPLY

An immediate operation is done to close up the opening in the stomach. The gastric contents, including a few pork chops or other foodstuffs, are cleaned out of the abdominal cavity and the incision is closed. Meanwhile, blood transfusions, intravenous fluids, and other lifesaving measures are used. The antibiotics help prevent the chemical peritonitis from becoming a bacterial peritonitis.

ACHING, BOWING LEGS

Mrs. A. W. writes: My 16 year old son always had straight legs but in the last few months they have become bowed and he says they hurt. The boy grew 12 inches in one year. Could this be the cause?

REPLY

Possibly. There are several diseases of bones and joints that develop in growing children, especially boys. X-rays would be needed to determine whether the legs otherwise are normal.

TOMORROW: A forgotten prune pit.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Fear Red China Will Get A-Bomb One Factor In Thaw Of Cold War

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Three important factors are behind the current thaw in the cold war and the Moscow-Washington maneuvering to get USA-USSR relations on friendlier ground.

Factor No. 1—is the awesome prospect that Red China will soon have the A-bomb.

This is just as worrisome to Nikita Khrushchev as it is to JFK. Most Americans have missed the significance of the fact that Moscow, in all the millions of rubles in aid and hundreds of advisers sent to Red China, has given no advice or aid for developing Chinese A-bombs or Chinese missiles. And the Chinese are quite gripped about it.

Today, with Sweden reported having the secret of the A-bomb, also Israel, it can be only a matter of time until Red China has it too.

Factor No. 2 — Kennedy and Khrushchev both have right-wing political problems at home.

Khrushchev's opposition from the Stalinists and Kennedy's vituperative opposition from the right wing are well known. Less well known is opposition to Kennedy policies from inside his own State Department. Career men down the line have fed out information to the press, directly contradictory to Kennedy's hopes for a cold-war thaw.

Factor No. 3—Both Khrushchev and Kennedy want peace.

I am convinced from talking words "American Oil Company" in a recent column referring to American oil company intrigue in the Near East on the side of the Arabs, thereby giving the impression that the column referred to AMOCO. Actually AMOCO, or the American Oil Company, was founded by Jacob Blaustein and has not been active in the Near East on the side of the Arabs. The American oil companies referred to in the column were those which own ARAMCO, the Arabian-American Oil Company. . . . Though congressman Ralph Harding of Idaho attended the transportation lobby's cocktail party in the Senate caucus room, he is a strict Mormon and doesn't drink. . . . George Jessel, whom Truman once called "The Toastmaster General," says he speaks for Catholic and Protestant charities in addition to Bonds for Israel. "With the Moslem," adds George, "I'm not so close." . . . Biggest compliment Jim Hagerty ever got came recently from FCC Chairman Newton Minow, former law partner of Adlai Stevenson, the man Hagerty helped defeat. Minow told Hagerty, now vice president in charge of news for the American Broadcasting Company: "If there were more TV executives like you I wouldn't be criticizing television."

Bottom Of The List

Wyoming's wagish Sen. Gale McGee told mournfully the other day about his struggle for status and seniority.

As an associate professor, he was tolerated but not accepted by the professors. He struggled mightily to become a full professor, he related, only to discover he was still hopelessly outranked by the deans.

Rather than seek higher status at the University of Wyoming, he ran for the Senate. He came to Washington, feeling important, with 17 other freshmen Senators in 1959.

Under the seniority rules, those who had served previously in the house were put ahead of him. That took care of half a dozen. Then former governors were given priority, putting him behind a few more notches.

The seniority of the remaining Senators was figured according to dates their states were admitted to the Union, or by alphabetical order if the states were admitted at the same time.

McGee of Wyoming ended up in last place.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Some people doodle while they phone. I make little absent-minded notes. I phoned my father. He lives with my sister Adele. When I hung up, 20 minutes later, the notes read like this:

Me: Hello, Dad. What's new. Dad: Hi, Jim. Nothing here. Me: It's snowing a little. Sort of wet. Dad: Adele is going into the hospital Thursday. Me: I want to speak to her before I get off.

Dad: It's all arranged. Me: That's good. Dad: I sent you a letter. Did you get it? Me: Not yet. Dad: That's funny. Maybe John (Note: my absent-minded brother) forgot to mail it. Me: Yeah. Dad: I typed it out that machine you loaned me. I'm getting back in practice.

Me: It all comes back. Dad: That's too bad. That you didn't get it. Me: I'll get it tomorrow. Don't worry. Put Adele on. Dad: Anything new? Me: Nothing. I'll pick you up tomorrow and you can stay here until Adele comes home.

Dad: Swell. We'll shoot some pool. Me: Yeah. Put Adele on. Dad: They're going to operate Friday morning. She's going to St. Francis. Me: Yop. Kelly wants to talk to Adele too. Dad: Okay. I'll put her on.

Adele: Hello? Me: Hello, doll. I'll bet you're climbing walls. Adele: (nervous laugh) I wish they'd do it right now and be done with it. Me: It's the waiting. Adele: Oh, that waiting. Me: Well, you people are all alike. It takes years to acquire rocks in a gall bladder and you do nothing about it. Now, you want an immediate miracle.

Adele: I suppose. How are the children? Me: Everybody is okay. Send a card to little Elinor. She's one year old. Adele: You're telling me? I sent it last week. How's Ginny? Me: She called up and said she was in the kitchen and one of the kids did something naughty and she couldn't find out which one, so she fanned all of them.

Adele: Oh for the good old days when they were all little. Me: You can have it. Adele: Oh, no. You can have it. I'm all over those days. Me: How's Emil? Adele: That's a great husband I got. All he says is "When are you going in? Why don't you go in today?" Once the honeymoon is over, they can't wait to get rid of you. Me: Oh I don't know. Adele: I'm getting pills already to keep me calm. Me: You sound calm. Adele: I get more when I get into Jersey City and walk in the door of St. Francis.

Me: Concentrate on when you get home. You'll be able to eat loin of pork and sauerkraut. Adele: Not right away. It takes time. Me: Well, God bless you, kid. Our prayers are with you all the way. Adele: Thanks. Doctor Yankowitz says to call him and he'll tell you the news after the operation.

Me: What's his first name? Adele: Bernard. I think they're all named Bernard. His number is HE-4-4423. Me: Say it again. Adele: HE-4-4423. Me: Got it. Okay, Adele. Wait a minute. Dad wants to talk to you. Me: Put him on.

Dad: Jim? Listen. They're going to operate Friday morning. Dr. Yankowitz figures it will all be over by noon. He wants you to call him at twelve thirty. Me: I got the— Dad: The number is HE-4—got a pencil? HE-4-4423. Me: I got it from Adele. Dad: You got what from Adele? Me: The doctor's phone number. Dad: Oh, I thought she was talking to Kelly.

Me: I'll put Kelly on. Dad: Okay, here's Adele. Kelly: Adele? Don't let it worry you. It's just like childbirth. You keep telling yourself that you feel no pain and you feel no pain. Adele: It won't work. I'll try. I asked Dr. Yankowitz if they took my appendix out the last time and he doesn't remember. They have to look it up on a surgical chart.

Kelly: They going to take out the appendix and the gall bladder? Adele: If it's still there they will. God, I don't think there's much left to take out. What's left after a hysterectomy? Kelly: Your teeth. Adele: That's funnier than you think.

Kelly: I'll get off, Adele. Adele: No, wait a minute. Dad wants to say something to Jim. Kelly: Okay. Put him on. Dad: Jim? Me: Yes, Dad. What time do you think you'll pick me up? I don't want you to make a special trip up here. Me: Forget it. I'll be there. Dad: Think you can make it before one? She's leaving for the hospital at one.

Me: I doubt it. However, I'll try. Dad: Well, whatever time you get here, I'll be packed and ready. Okay? Me: Okay, Dad. I won't be any later than two. I'll answer the mail, do some work and then I'll drive up. Dad: Just a minute. Adele wants to say something. Me: Okay. Put her on.

Adele: Jim? Do you think you'll be able to visit me in the hospital? Me: Honey, you know I'm not much on the visiting bit. Let's put it this way — I'll try. What are the visiting hours? Adele: I don't know. Me: That's good. I'll try to make it. But, whether I do or not, I'll be thinking of you all the time.

Adele: Thanks. Now wait a minute until I see if Dad wants to say anything? What? No, he has nothing to say. He'll see you tomorrow anyway. Me: Love to Emil and Jean and Elinor Anne. Adele: Okay. Bye. Me: Bye. . . . Alexander Graham Bell said "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you" over the first telephone. He was the only one able to hold it to seven words. . . .

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — I didn't realize that Glenn Ford, who plays juvenile parts and looks so young, has been in our business 30 years. He started when he was a youngster and is still pretty young, romantically speaking. Connie Stevens is younger than springtime and they always seem happy when they are together, which is mostly all the time. They are just back from the premiere of "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" in Washington.

Glenn has agreed to star in "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" for MGM as soon as he comes back from Europe where he goes March 10 for "The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm." "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" is the story of a widower with a six-year-old son.

Never let it be said that Marlon Brando doesn't know a good thing when he sees her. On the MGM lot for lunch a few days before taking off on his quick trip to Paris, Brando saw and asked to be introduced to Carole Wells, the very pretty girl who plays the older sister in "National Velvet."

They had lunch together in the commissary and Marlon outlined to her the story of "Daphne" which he will make for the Pennybaker Company. Out of the blue he said to the elated Carole, "You can have the leading lady role if you like!"

Most people think of Polly Bergen as a glamorous singer but producer Sy Bartlett is convinced there's a lot of untapped dramatic talent in my girl friend. Having teamed Polly with Gregory Peck in "Cape Fear," Sy has again signed her to star in "Another Time, Another Day," in a very emotional part.

To be filmed in London late this year, the story deals with a WAC whose English lover is killed in World War II and who remains in London to raise their illegitimate son. "It's the best war-time romance for a woman since Vivien Leigh did 'Waterloo Bridge,'" says Sy.

Had a telephone call from Shelley Winters from Phoenix where she is appearing in "Natural Affection" at the Sombbrero Playhouse. She said, "Nowadays it costs so much to bring a play into Broadway we're making all our changes before we open there in October."

Shelley said she might go to London in early March for the opening of Alex Viespi's play. Apparently her romance is doing alright. She told me that she's waiting for the script of "The Prisoners of Altona" before she says yes or no on accepting one of the top roles.

Fire Damages LaVale Home

The second story of a LaVale home received about $1,000 in damages in a fire that apparently started from a short circuit in a console radio-phonograph this morning.

Seventeen firemen with three pieces of equipment responded to the call at 8:30 a. m. to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bronson, 3 Orchard Street.

Paul L. Boch, president of the fire company, said the flames ate into the floor, one wall partition and the ceiling of the bedroom on the second story.

Firemen used air packs and gas masks to get to the base of the fire. Water damage was kept to a minimum, Boch pointed out, as firemen extinguished the blaze by using only 15 to 20 gallons of water.

Other firemen were busy in the area. Frostburg sent two trucks and 22 men to help Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company extinguish a brush fire.

Today at 6:36 a. m. after helping Mt. Savage with the Calla Hill home fire, Frostburg dispatched three trucks and 29 men to 48 McCulloh Street when a hot water tank exploded. Damage was minor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have not been in this country long and I am trying to acquaint myself with your customs. One of my big problems is to learn how to get the attention of a waiter.

In Europe it is considered proper to snap one's fingers or to clap the hands. I am told that this sort of thing is rude in America. Yet I have seen Americans whistle at waiters, bang silverware against water tumblers and even wave napkins in the air. I know this would be incorrect in Europe.

Please tell me what is the accepted technique for catching a waiter's eye in America.

— NEWCOMER

DEAR NEWCOMER: The best way to catch a waiter's eye is to raise your hand. There will be times when you may feel the urge to remove the tablecloth and use it as a flag, or perhaps fire a pistol in the air, but such techniques are useless when American waiters are busy.

If the hand-raising fails to attract the attention of your waiter then stand as if to leave. If you have not paid your check you will see every waiter in the place and perhaps even the manager. This will give you an opportunity to tell him what you think of the service.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My

quacy which dates way back. Get professional help. Your letter indicates that you're in a bad way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You and your column have caused me plenty of trouble. I refer to the letter from the woman who suggested that all wives check their husband's handkerchief supply as a clue to their behavior. It seems this wife found a whole slew of her hubby's missing hankies under the seat of the car—smeared with lipstick.

I'm a home - loving boy who has neither the time, the energy nor the money to step out on my wife. But I DO lose handkerchiefs — dozens of them. Don't ask me where or how. They just disappear. I also lose scarves, gloves and overshoes.

Since my wife read that letter in your column she has become suspicious and downright accusatory. Now what do I do?

— LESTER

DEAR LESTER: People who habitually lose things are childish. Little boys should give up playing Drop The Handkerchief by the time they marry. If you simply can't kick the habit then buy yourself a half dozen every now and then. And don't say I never gave ya' any help, Bub.

Sullivan Fires First Round 61 In Tucson Open

Takes Two-Stroke Lead At El Rio

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPD) —Handsome Buddy Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif., tied the course record with a crackling nine under par 61 performance Thursday to take a two-stroke over the par-busting field in the first round of the $20,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

Sullivan, apparently unworried by the fact that thieves had broken into his car during the night and stolen a set of golf clubs and other items, posted nines of 31-30 —61 on the short, 6444-yard El Rio course.

Bob Stone, a vacationing pro from Junction City, Kan., and Dr. Ed Updegraff, crack Tucson amateur, tied for second place with 63s. In seven tournaments, it was the first time Stone had even qualified to play. He dropped puts of 25, 14 and 12 feet en route to his 31-32.

The pros closest to Sullivan are Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif.; Bob Harrison, Pacific Palisades, Calif.; and Tom Nieporie, Locust Valley, N.Y., each with 64.

Most of the crack professionals were playing the course with a driver, wedge and putter.

Sullivan, who has had only mediocre success on the tour, said this was four strokes better than any round he ever had shot before.

Campers Face Sentinels At Latter's Gym

Beall At Mt. Savage, Bruce Hosts Valley, KHS At Martinsburg

Tonight's the big night for a half dozen high school basketball teams in Allegany County.

It's the final night of the season in the W.M.I. League with Allegheny and Bruce struggling to win the title or finish in a tie.

Class AA, A and B championships also could hinge on the outcome of the three games in which W.M.I. League teams are involved.

Allegheny Plays Sentinels

The game of most interest to Cumberland fans is the return battle between Allegheny and Fort Hill on the Sentinels' court. Coach Jim Eckard's Fort Hill cagers won at Campobello by the score of 54-47 on January 20 and the boys from the Greenway Avenue school could tuck away the county Class AA title and qualify for the district tournament by making a sweep of the series. An Allegheny victory would tie up the series and necessitate the staging of a playoff game.

This will be the 56th game of the annual series between the city rivals and Allegheny leads 38 wins to 17. It is also the fourth game of the six-game intra-city series in which LaSalle leads (2-0). Fort Hill is 1-1 and Allegheny is 0-2. LaSalle and Allegheny shared city honors last season.

League Race Thriller

Allegheny is deadlocked with Bruce High School for first place in the W.M.I. League (6-3) and if both quint's win tonight, the race for the title will windup in a tie, something that has happened only once before in 41 years. Valley and Allegheny were the league's only co-champions in 1957. A Bruce victory and an Allegheny defeat would give the Bulldogs of Coach Leonard Ritchie their school's first league title in 39 years of competition. Allegheny could retain the title it has won the past two years if it spills Fort Hill and Valley stops Bruce.

The Bruce-Valley game at Westernport tonight is of great importance to both the Bulldogs and Black Knights as it involves the county Class B championship. Bruce won the state Class B crown last year but trails in its series with Valley as a result of having lost the first game at Lonaconing, 61-47. This means that the Bulldogs must win and knock the series tonight or Coach John C. Meyers' quint will advance to the district tourney as the county's standard bearer. If Valley drops this one on the court where Bruce is 4-0 in league games there will be a playoff for Class B honors.

Beall Won Opener

Then there's the county Class A battle at Mt. Savage tonight between Beall and the Mt. Savage Indians. The Indians will have to shake a five-game losing streak to tie up its series with Beall and force a playoff or Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers will march into the district playoffs. The Frostburg team bagged the first game of this series by the score of 62-61.

And do you know there is a possibility of the W.M.I. League title race ending in a four-way tie. That's if Allegheny and Bruce lose to Fort Hill and Valley. Valley and Fort Hill are right on the heels of the deadlocked leaders as the season draws to a close with 5-4 records.

Keyser At Martinsburg

Martinsburg (15-1) puts an 11-game winning streak on the line when it plays host to Keyser (16-2), winner of seven in a row, in the finale of their home-and-home series tonight. Keyser has been winning since a 61-57 loss to the Bulldogs on January 17. The only other loss on the K.H.S. record came at the hands of Allegheny, 62-59. Martinsburg's only setback was dealt out by South Hagerstown, 63-56, in the fourth game on the Bulldogs' schedule.

In P.V.C. games tonight, Moorefield plays at Ridgeley, Wardensville at Mathias and Southern of Oakland at Piedmont.

Elk Garden, incidentally, will be putting a nine-game victory string on the line when it visits Thomas.

Rounding out a busy Friday schedule are Rockwood at Northern's Huskies, Oldtown at Paw Paw, Beverly at Bayard, Elk Garden at Mountaineer (Thomas), Fort Ashby's junior varsity at Flintstone, Northern Bedford at Hyndman and Tussey Mountain at Bedford in Bedford County League games and Berkeley Springs at Charles Town.

Frederick's Cadets entertain South Hagerstown's Rebels, Clear Spring visits Hancock and Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs host Boonsboro.

That decision is to be ratified by an FIS Congress next September in Vienna.

Trout Streams To Be Stocked

Action Contemplated Within Few Days

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Game and Inland Fish Department said today it will stock several streams with trout next week so they will be ready for fishermen by George Washington's birthday.

Edwin M. Barry, chief, inland fish management, said the stocking of streams is beginning early this year because of the interest shown by fishermen.

"The weather is making them want to get to the streams," he said.

The trout fishing in Maryland traditionally runs from April 15 to March 15 the following year. March has been used for stocking the streams in the past.

"We've moved up the stocking date because fishermen want to get out earlier. We also will stock streams the week of Feb. 25," Barry said.

Trout will be stocked in the following streams next week: Allegany County: Evitts Creek, near Cumberland.

Montgomery County: Patuxent River, just below Tridelfia Reservoir.

Frederick County: Big Hunting Creek, Little Hunting Creek, Fishing Creek.

Anne Arundel County: Severn River.

Baltimore County: Gunpowder River, below Loch Raven Reservoir; Jones Falls.

Harford County: Bynum Run, near Bel Air.

Cards of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends and neighbors who aided and comforted us in our recent bereavement, at the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Margaret Ann Paine. Especially do we thank the Pallbearers, those who donated the use of 1959 cars and those who sent floral offerings and the minister, Rev. Harold R. McCloy, Sr. for his comforting words. The family.

BEL - AIR

The area's most modern subdivision, where the entrance alone shows the professional skill and good taste applied throughout. Paved streets with curb, street lights, fire hydrants, gas, 57,000 gallons of water storage with treated safe water. Most important of all, a state approved and regulated sewage disposal system. No septic tanks to endanger health and to pose an under-estimated cost for up-keep and replacement. Consult your health department before you buy anywhere. Talk to your banker. For guaranteed property value, you can't equal Bel-Air for home sites and homes. Call Robert Downing, Allegany Land Co., Inc., PA 4-6526.

Sanitary Group Approves Order For District

Commissioners Must Act Too

The Allegany County Sanitary Commission last night gave its approval to the final draft of a notice of order granting a petition to create a Bowling Green Sanitary District to provide sewage facilities for Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Roberts Place.

This legal notice will be published for the first time on Saturday.

Actually, the sanitary commission approved the creation of the sanitary district to serve some 560 homes at the conclusion of the public hearing on the matter which attracted some 50 residents and property owners to the Court House on February 1.

Costs Explained

On that occasion, Leonard Glass of the Baltimore consulting engineering firm of Matz, Childs and Associates Inc. explained that his estimates indicate that the cost of a sewage disposal system for this area of Roberts Place, Bowling Green and Potomac Park would total $887,100, of which $152,100 would come from federal and state funds. That leaves $735,000 to be paid by the property owners of the affected area over the next 30 years.

The sanitary district, embracing an area from the Dingle Hill city limits of Cumberland to the Celanese property line and from the Potomac River to the top of Haystack Mountain, will not become effective until a copy of the sanitary commission's resolution and order are approved by the county commissioners.

Could Be Appealed

Any 10 residents and property owners dissatisfied with the sanitary commission's order have the right to appeal to the county commissioners within 10 days of the first publication of the official order. The county commissioners' decision in the matter is final.

The public hearing February 1 was in pursuance of a petition which had been submitted to the sanitary commission calling for the creation of a sanitary district for Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Roberts Place.

Senate Kills Plan To Ease Sales Tax Bite

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Senate rejected 23-5 Thursday an attempt to wipe out sales tax increases voted by the Legislature last year.

Sen. Harry T. Phoebe, R-Somerset, sought to have the tax start again at purchases of 51 cents and exempt restaurant meals.

The 1961 Legislature lowered the starting point to 25 cents and made the 3 per cent levy apply to all meals costing $1 or more.

Senator Majority Leader James A. Pine, D-Balto County, told the Senate Phoebe's bill would "completely disrupt the financial structure of the state" as well as Gov. Tawes' budget now before the Legislature.

Asks Thumbs Down
"Accusing Phoebe of 'political aspirations'," he urged the Senate to adopt the unfavorable report of its Finance Committee on the bill.

Phoebe argued that the tax hikes could be wiped out without any disruption of state finances. They were voted to finance a $9.5 million program of state aid to local governments last year.

He said state revenue estimates "always underestimate revenues" and noted that the governor also still has left $6 million of a reserve fund he had set aside from surplus two years ago.

"When you vote against this bill, remember what you're doing to the poor people," he told the Senate. "Judgment day is coming before the voters of Maryland on May 15 and in November."

Cast GOP Votes
The three Senate Republicans—Phoebe, Charles M. See of Allegany and Edward T. Hall—all voted against adopting the unfavorable report. They were joined by two Democrats, Sen. Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett and Joseph A. Bertorelli of Baltimore City's 1st District.

Sen. Louis N. Phipps, D-Anne Arundel, who said he voted against the tax increases last year, passed Thursday.

The remaining 25 Senate Democrats voted to kill the measure.

William Kuykendall Speaks From Court House Steps; Fellow Students Listen

Students March For Levy

Approximately 750 students from Romney (W. Va.) High School yesterday marched from the school to the Court House to demonstrate their support for a special hospital and school bond levy which will be voted on today by residents of Hampshire County.

Today's special election will decide if the voters of that county want a special levy which would provide operational costs of Hampshire Memorial Hospital and a bond issue and levy for construction and improvements in the county school system.

Yesterday's orderly and "unofficial" march started at 1 p.m. and climaxed a series of events the students conducted to demonstrate publicly their support for the passage of the levies and bond issue.

Upon arrival at the Court House, William F. Kuykendall, president of the student body, spoke in support of the election questions, as did a number of other students.

The students attracted much attention during their march and police had to stop traffic because of the long line of youths. The school band and cheerleaders accompanied the students body and took part in the demonstration at the Court House.

The youths at the school are keenly interested in the passage of issues and have had leaflets printed and distributed throughout the county. The students also have provided speakers at PTA and other public meetings during the past several weeks.

The hospital levy is sought to cover operational costs at Hampshire Memorial Hospital for a three-year period beginning in July. Authorities say it takes about $24,000 annually to run the institution.

The hospital levy, if approved today, would be 4.3 cents on each $100 of Class 1 property; 8.6 cents on Class 2 property, and 17.2 cents on Classes 3 and 4 properties.

The school bond issue is for $750,000, which would be used for construction of a central county high school. The special levy for schools calls for a 75 per cent levy of the rate on the four classes of property for a five-year period beginning in July. It would provide for additional classrooms and improvements in several county schools.

The total cost of the school levy and bond issue has been estimated at $10.74 a year for the average home owner.

No Objection To Application Aired At Hearing

No objection was raised before the Allegany County Appeals Board yesterday afternoon on the application of Harold R. Reeves for a permit to establish a yard for the storage and dismantling of used cars on the west side of State Route 36 some 300 feet south of Mill Run Road at Reynolds.

Only Mr. Reeves and an associate appeared at yesterday's hearing and the applicant explained what he had in mind on the premises.

Although no formal action was taken by the appeals board it appeared unlikely that in the absence of any objection they would disapprove the permit.

Everett G. Partridge, chairman, and Wilbur Johnson, vice chairman, attended. The third member, Ralph G. Cover, is vacationing in Florida.

Fire Company To Hold Drills

Rubber tires will be burned and firemen will use fire distinguishers and gas masks. Captains for the drill will be Harry Mallow, Gilbert Kerns and Vernon Durst.

Refreshments will be served following the drills.

Youth Killed While Working On His Car

Garey Wayne Morris, 18, of RD 2, Everett, Pa., was killed yesterday evening when his car fell on him and crushed his chest while he was replacing a rear axle.

J. Ralph Mickle, Bedford County coroner, gave this account of the fatal accident:

Young Morris had been driving alone on a road in Snake Spring Township when the rear axle of his car broke.

He got out of the car and walked about 1,000 feet to the Gap Auto Salvage Company, procured another rear axle and borrowed a bumper jack.

The youth walked back to his car, placed two jacks on the rear bumper and raised the car as far as possible.

He took the two rear wheels off, laid them aside and crawled under the car to remove other parts in order to replace the broken axle.

The jacks apparently slipped and the brake housing crushed his chest.

About 5 p.m. while the youth was working on his car, a passer-by drove past, recognized Morris and continued to the salvage yard and told Gary Beefelt, of Everett, that Beefelt's friend was having car trouble.

When Beefelt went there he found the accident had occurred. He ran back to the salvage yard.

A wrecker was taken to the scene and pulled the car off the victim, who according to the coroner, apparently was killed instantly. There was no witnesses.

The victim was pronounced dead by an Everett physician. His body was taken to the Stewart Funeral Home in Everett.

Morris had been employed at a service station in Bedford. The accident is believed to have occurred at 5:10 p.m.

Mother Sent To Prison, Loses Child

A South Cumberland woman yesterday was sentenced to a year in the Women's Reformatory after she was found guilty of violating the terms of her probation which had been imposed earlier this month in Juvenile Court.

The woman, Mrs. Irene Landenberger, 26, of 23 Offutt Street, was given the jail term by Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

Magistrate Fatkin noted Mrs. Landenberger had been found guilty of neglect of her minor child at a hearing on February 2 and was given a one-year suspended sentence and placed on probation for two years.

The court said Mrs. Landenberger was arrested by City Police Sunday on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Magistrate Fatkin also ruled that Mrs. Landenberger's child, now in a foster home, would be removed from her custody permanently. The magistrate said he has notified Welfare Department authorities to investigate the possibility of placing the child up for adoption.

Governor Says Park Plan Will Get Close Study

No Action Taken, Delegates Assured

No land held by the state will be disposed of without careful scrutiny, and no such action will be taken at this time, Governor J. Millard Tawes yesterday told Allegany County legislators.

The comments were made in a statement by Gov. Tawes after members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly expressed concern that a preliminary report of the Master Plan Committee on State Parks suggested that the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area be turned over to county or local interests.

The Governor's statement follows:

"It has been brought to my attention that one of the recommendations of the recently announced Master Plan for Parks calls for the disposal of some land now held by the state for park purposes.

"I have not had had an opportunity to study the reports as carefully as I would like, but I am confident the report offers sound guidelines for future park plan acquisition and development.

No Immediate Action
"However, I want to assure those concerned that no land now owned by the state will be disposed of without most careful scrutiny, and I can assure you that no such action will be taken at this time."

The Allegany County Delegation, meeting in Annapolis Monday night, urged that the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing be maintained as a state facility.

The seven legislators agreed the area should be retained, improved and properly maintained by the State Department of Forests and Parks.

The recommendation was contained in a preliminary report of the committee. A final master state park plan is to be prepared and presented to the Legislature next year.

Protest Meeting Held
Thirty organizations sent representatives last night to a public meeting in the Veteran of Foreign Wars home at Lonaconing to protest abandonment of the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area.

As a result of this session, three actions were taken.

—The Georges Creek Improvement Association was formed with Bernard Cordial elected chairman; Irvin Lewis, co-chairman; Rev. Leslee Schwindt, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Anne Foote, publicity chairman. The association adopted the Dan's Mountain question as its first project and considered tentative plans for other area improvements.

—The group agreed that each of the 30 organizations present would protest the removal of the area from the state park system in telegrams and letters to Gov. Tawes, and the association will also contact area legislators voicing the area's protest.

—The third action was to call a public mass meeting for Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Lonaconing VFW home, with representatives from Frostburg, Midland, Barton, Lonaconing, Westernport and other communities in the area. Those present were named a full committee to invite officials and interested citizens of the various communities in the Georges Creek Region to the meeting Sunday. A special invitation is also to be sent to the members of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

New Bill Popular Choice For Revamping Assembly

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A bill drafted by a delegate whose county stands to gain nothing emerged as the popular choice Thursday at a legislative hearing on plans to reapportion the Maryland Legislature.

House and Senate Judiciary Committees were urged by every speaker appearing before them at a 2 1/2 hour hearing to devise some workable plan that would give growing counties more seats, so voters could pass on it at the 1962 general election.

And practically every one of them agreed that of four bills before the committees the best was drafted by Del. James Clark Jr. of Howard County and co-sponsored by the county's other delegate, Daniel Murray.

It is the only plan that would not add more seats to the 123-member House, and it calls for a reapportionment of delegates to begin with the 1966 elections.

Clark's own county would retain the minimum two House seats guaranteed every county under the bill. Sixty-five other seats would be reshuffled according to population every 10 years. Immediate gains would range from seven new seats for populous Baltimore County to one for suburban Anne Arundel County. The heaviest loss for any county would be two.

Clark said 32 states have fewer members in their lower houses than Maryland's 123, and these include such relative giants as New Jersey with 60 and California with 80. New York, he noted, has only 150 as does Texas, which has 250 counties compared to Maryland's 23.

One feature of Clark's bill which appealed to smaller counties was that any county with three seats or more would have to create legislative districts for the extra members to represent.

Alternate bills call for 125, 144 and 150 member maximums. All chiefly would benefit Baltimore City's 3rd and 5th districts and Baltimore, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Anne Arundel counties.

The committees were asked to name a subcommittee to hammer out differences in the plans and present a single bill to the legislature.

While at work, the brakeman, who was riding the car in the eastbound hump area, placed his arm inside the gondola and was caught with the shift of the steel.

A cutting torch was procured from the backshops in South End in efforts to free the man. About 1:50 p.m. the equipment truck of Central Fire Station and firemen from South End were summoned.

The man was finally released with the use of a porta-power unit, part of the equipment of the city fire department.

A railroad spokesman said two bundles of steel weighing about 20 tons each were in the car at the time and the man was fortunate in not being injured more seriously.
